HERALD'S POPULARITY CONTEST ENDS TO-DAY

To-night at 8 o'clock marks the close of The Washington Herald's baseball contest and will decide the ten most popular fans of the Capital who will see at Philadelphia without costing them a penny.

It has been but five weeks since the first coupon was printed and since that time 71,573 votes have been cast and have kept the contest editor's staff of assistants busy every moment of the time.

Unless some dark horse swamps the ballot box to-day, F. E. Siebold stands the best chance of being declared the most popular diamond devotee in Washington, while William J. Donovan is still running strong and is certain to remain in the exclusive set. Probably the most notable development in yesterday's balloting was the jump made by Philip Baker, who went from fourth to third place with a gain of more than 2,000 votes.

Friends of Arthur Langley also came across in great numbers and moved their nominee from ninth to fifth place with an increase of over 7,000 coupons to his credit.

Undaunted by the heavy balloting of the leaders, the candidates in the stretch have not given up hope and are still flooding the contest editor's department with hundreds of the slips.

But to-day's the day, and judging from the comment heard on all sides this contest has outlived any other event of its kind ever held by a Washington newspaper.

LOBBY GOSSIPERS GUESSING.

Statement of Miss Katherine Elkins Causes Much Speculation.
Miss Katherine Elkins, who said upon her return from Europe, where she is said to have met the Duke of Abruzzi, that "she had returned to be an American," as at the Shoreham.
Miss Elkins' statement is puzzling the lobby gossipers, who declare that she has never relinquished her American citizenship. Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins is with her daughter.

AMATEUR AEROS PREPARE TO FLY

Machines in Readiness for College Park Tourney.

Robert Moore and John Smiley, local amateur aviators, are getting their machines in shape for removal to College Park, Md., where an amateur aviation meet will be held next week under the Aero Scientific Club. Moore has a monoplane and Smiley's machine is a combination of the monoplane and biplane types.

The committee in charge of prizes decided last night to award $50 for the best original type machine, which makes the largest number of points during the meet. A silver cup valued at $50 will be given for the most difficult maneuver performed by an aviator.

Prizes for Gliding.
The gliders are to have a special contest and the first prize will be $20, and the second $10.

At the meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon, James F. Oyster submitted a report from the executive committee and committee on aviation, recommending that the Chamber donate a silver cup or trophy, valued at $100, as a prize for the amateur birdmen. The recommendation was accepted by the board, and the prize will be selected by a committee consisting of A. Lefschew Sinclair, Joseph Richardson, and D. J. Callaghan.

Benning Deal Closed.

J. S. Berger, the aviation promoter, closed the deal yesterday for the Benning race course for October 13, 14, and 15. The deal was made between August Belmont, of New York, and Samuel Ross, of the Washington Jockey Club.

The printing matter will arrive to-day and George Sellers, connected with a local theater, in conjunction with the bill posting company, will have charge of the advertising.

In response to a telegram sent by a local newspaper to Graham-White, the English aviator wired that he would positively fly in Washington on the dates Mr. Berger announced.

A new Blériot monoplane was shipped yesterday from New York for the use of Mr. Graham-White in his flights in Washington. He will also bring with him the aircraft that he is using this week at the fair grounds at Brockton, Mass.

Aero Reserve Plans.

Steps were taken yesterday to have an aero military and naval tournament which will eclipse any previous aerial exhibition. The plan is to gather a large section of the army, to call out the Aerial Reserve, and assemble in the Chesapeake Bay off Annapolis, a squadron of the United States navy.

The plans call for a combined attack on the army by the fleet and the aero reserve. The attack will then be changed so as to have the army and the aero reserve attack the ships assembled in the waters. In this attack the aero reserve will try to demolish the ships by throwing bombs from the aerial fleet.

The suggestion was made by Dr. A. F. Zahn, secretary of the Aero Club of Washington, to Commodore John Barry Ryan, some time ago, and he communicated with the Chamber of Commerce, who, in turn, submitted it yesterday to Assistant Secretary of War Oliver. Gen. Oliver received the suggestion with enthusiasm, and invited Granville Hunt, who represented the Chamber, to lay the plan before Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood.

Husband Makes Charges.

J. Frank Neil yesterday brought suit against Blanche M. Neil for a legal separation, alleging an unmanageable temper and charging that she injures his business. They were married at Rockville, October 27, 1901, and have two children.

Boston's Wife Laid at Rest.

Funeral services for Mrs. Catherine Baston, who was killed by her husband, Policeman Charles S. Baston, were held yesterday afternoon in the undertaking establishment of George W. Wise, 2900 M street northwest. Rev. Walter Williams, of Grace Episcopal Church, officiated. Interment was in Glenwood Cemetery.

CZAR'S PENOLOGIST REPLIES TO ATTACK

Declares Terrors of Siberia Are Sensationalized.

RUSSIAN PENAL SYSTEM SCORED

Appalling Number of Executions in Empire Arraigned by Dr. Frederick H. Wines, of Chicago, and Causes First International Debate at Prison Congress.

The first international debate was precipitated in the international prison congress yesterday, when bitter invective was heaped upon the atrocities of the Russian penal system by Dr. Frederick H. Wines, of Chicago.

Without waiting for a formal opportunity to reply, Mr. Etienne de Krouleff, chief of the prison administration of the czar's empire, put on his war paint last night and proceeded to demolish the accusations of cruelty and barbarism preferred by the Chicago expert, and declared the terrors of Siberia had been sensationalized by the enemies of his country.

"In no civilized country," said Dr. Wines, "are the executions of such appalling numbers as in Russia. It is well calculated to excite our horror. This is the more worthy of remark in view of the fact that the penal code limits the application of capital punishment to political offenders. Yet, in virtue of the system by which offences not political can be punished by martial law, even in times of peace, the number of executions is truly extraordinary.

Powers of the Tribunal.
"The civil administration can at its discretion except any affair from the jurisdiction of the criminal courts, and the accused are brought before a military tribunal, which can return a sentence of death, which must be confirmed or may be set aside by a higher officer. His power in the premises is arbitrary and absolute.

"The 'exceptional' laws of Russia permit a death sentence by military tribunal for armed resistance to the authorities, for wilful and premeditated homicide, for criminal assault, for brigandage, for robbery, for premeditated arson, for inundation of the property of another, and for attacking certain railway trains.

"The official statistics show that, in 1908, 2,108 persons were legally executed. Political offenders are hung, others may be hung or shot."

M. De Krouleff's statement in reply to Dr. Wines was, in effect that Russia has been in a state of siege and terrorism ever since the Japanese war. The forces of revolution have had to be held in check, and execution of ring-leaders was resorted to only in cases of dire peril. Russia felt that the enemies of the czar and of her government were traitors, he said, and should be dealt with accordingly.

Many Were Assassinated.
The Russian prison chief further said there had been 29,074 acts of terrorism in his land for the four years ending in 1909, of which 7,555 were assassinations. In the same period the death penalty had been meted out 2,835 times, which was conservative administration of the law, in view of the condition of the country.

Accepting the principle of conditional liberation of prisoners upon parole, the congress adopted the following resolutions last night:
"First, conditional release should be given, not by favor, but in accordance with definite rules. Prisoners of all classes, including workhouse prisoners, should be eligible for conditional release after serving for a definite minimum period.

"Second, conditional liberation should be given on the recommendation of a properly constituted board, but reserving always the control of the government. This board should have the power of recalling the prisoner in case of unsatisfactory conduct.

"Third, the duty of caring for conditionally liberated prisoners should be undertaken by State agents, and approved associations, who will undertake to befriend and supervise them and to report on their conduct for a sufficiently long period.

"Fourth, where the ordinary rules for a parole are not applicable to life prisoners, their causes should be dealt with by the supreme government as a matter of clemency."

Vagrant Colonies Approved.
Another resolution approved the establishment of farm colonies for the treatment and reformation of the vagabond and vagrant. Professional and accidental mendicants should be dealt with separately, and the problem of the tramp should be handled in more scientific fashion than heretofore, the resolutions added.

M. Sanagi, one of the Oriental delegates, gave an interesting lecture on "The present conditions of Japanese prisons," last night at the New Willard. He elucidated the swift progress of the Island Empire, and said:

"The social changes have been remarkable in our country. There is nothing that has not undergone entire transformation; and when we look back to the times, more than two decades ago, when the criminal law and the prison regulations which were in force up to 1908 were established, we feel as if we were then living in an entirely different world. Our new criminal code is, I think, fully abreast of the times and shows we intend to keep pace with the rest of the world."

"The International Prison Congress Association, organized at the Budapest congress in 1906, was reorganized yesterday for the coming five years. Rev. A. M. Fish, of Trenton, N. J., was elected president; R. H. Cressen McHenry, secretary, and Rev. D. Reed Imbrie, of Pittsburgh, treasurer. The vice presidents are Thomas Holmes, of London; Mr. Balfour, of Droghda, Ireland; Chaplain Alexander, of the Duke's Street Prison, Glasgow, Scotland; and Rev. K. Tomoka, of Tokyo, Japan.

Funeral services for Mrs. Catherine Baston, who was killed by her husband, Policeman Charles S. Baston, were held yesterday afternoon in the undertaking establishment of George W. STOLEN AUTO BURNED

Vandals Abandon Touring Car at Midnight, Which Is Total Wreck.

Abandoned by vandals at Eighteenth and D streets, a five-passenger automobile, owned by E. W. Wheeler, of 1035 Seventh street northwest, was found at midnight last night after it had been totally destroyed by fire, probably of incendiary origin.

Mr. Wheeler attended a banquet at Freund's, 315 Tenth street, last night, and left his auto standing across the street. When he was ready to leave for home, about 11 o'clock, the machine was gone. He immediately notified the police, and an hour later the remains of his car were located. No trace of the thieves has been found.

While E. J. Hendricks, of 402 Sixth street southeast, was at Chase's Theater last night, his Ford touring car disappeared. The auto was recovered intact at Proctor Avenue, near North Capitol street and Eckington place about midnight.

Elks Committee Carries Out Wishes of Gen. Urell.

In view of the fact that he wished to be buried in his native heath, the body of Gen. M. Emmet Urell, who died in Ireland, will not be disinterred and brought to Arlington.

The committee appointed by Washington Lodge, No. 15, B. P. O. E., to carry out the wishes of Gen. M. Emmet Urell regarding the disposition of his remains as expressed in a letter left by him with Capt. E. G. Schaffer, met again last night, and, having received reliable information concerning his last wishes, has concluded to respect them, and allow his body to remain where it has been interred, near the city of Cork, Ireland.

The committee consisted of Col. R. A. O'Brien, Capt. E. G. Schaffer, and John C. Maxwell.
